Two dissertations, I. Concerning the end for which God created the world. II. The nature of true virtue Jonathan Edwards

"_THE author had designed these dissertations for the public view; and wrote them out as they now appear: though 'tis probable, that if his life had been spared, he would have revised them and rendred them in some respects more compleat. Some new sentiments, here and there, might probably have been added; and some passages brightened with farther illustrations. This may be conjectured from some brief hints, or sentiments minuted down, on loose papers, found in the manuscripts."

This is an edition of a classical book first published in the eighteenth century.
